After your colonoscopy

Information for patients, relatives and carers

After your procedure

Today you have had an endoscopic examination of your bowel. Though it is unlikely you will have any serious after-effects:

- if you have any abdominal discomfort, this is most likely due to the air put in by the doctor during the examination and this effect will not last long
- if you pass traces of blood from your back passage, this could be because you had 'biopsies' taken during the examination.
- if you have blood clots or large amounts of blood, tell a doctor (see below) as these are not normal

If you have had sedation

For the next 24 hours, you must not:

- drive a car or ride a bicycle/motorcycle (it is considered to be driving under the influence).
- operate machinery
- drink alcohol.

We advise you not to sign any legal or important documents.

If you have had Entonox ('gas and air')

Entonox passes out of your system quickly. You may feel a little dizzy, light-headed, have nausea, tingling in your limbs and some disorientation but this will disappear once you stop using the gas.

If you have driven yourself to the appointment, you are able to drive home so long as:

- you have not had further sedation for your procedure (in this case you will need someone to take you home)

- the discharge nurse has no concerns about your fitness to drive and that you are fit for discharge.
  - at least 30 minutes have passed since you had the Entonox

You may eat and drink as normal.

Support when you get home

If you become unwell during the next 48 hours or develop persistent or worsening abdominal pain, please come to A&E immediately.

If you have more minor concerns do not hesitate to contact the nurses:

- endoscopy unit opening hours are Monday to Friday, 08.00 to 18.00
- phone number: 020 3313 2645

or contact your GP.

Out of normal hours, in an emergency, you can also telephone the switchboard of St Mary's Hospital on 020 3312 6666 and asks to speak to the 'gastroenterology registrar on call'.

The A&E Unit is open 24 hours, 020 3312 1234.

If you attend A&E or are admitted to the hospital after your discharge, please ensure to take the copy of your report with you.

The unit will send a copy of your report to your GP the day after your procedure. However, it is our experience that many GPs may not have this report on their system for about 10 days to 2 weeks following your procedure.
